TOKYO, Aug. 5—(INS)—U. S. forces demolished four tanks tonight in smashing new Red onslaught to lay siege to Taegu and also hurled back the sixth enemy effort to break through to Pusan.

A dispatch from U. S. First Cavalry Div. field headquarters at 7.30 o'clock Saturday night (5.39 a. m. EDT) said a team of the First Cavalry Division and low-flying American planes knocked out four of six Communist tanks.

The Russian-built tanks were leading a fresh attempt to pierce the new Nakdong River "do or die" line shielding Taegu on the main inland rail-highway route to the all-important entry harbor of Pusan, 55 miles to the southeast.

TOKYO, Aug. 5—(INS)—Hordes of North Korea's Communist armies fought furiously today to bring the South Korean emergency capital of Taegu under siege but the enemy's southern divisions were hurled back in new attempts to break through toward Pusan.

The invaders switched new direction on Saturday.

DISPOSE OF $60,450 IN NINE WILLS RECENTLY FILED

Mrs. Lura R. Ross, Yardley, Left An Estate of $10,250 In Will

ONE BENSALEM WILL

Oscar Boileau Named Heirs In Will Recently Probated

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 5—A total of $60,450 was disposed of in nine wills which were probated in the office of the Register of Wills during the past few days.

An estate of $15,000 personal property is bequeathed in the will of Helen H. Ely, Newtown, who died May 16, and named the First National Bank and Trust Company of Newtown, as executor. The income of securities in the estate goes to Eugene T. Ely for life and upon his death, $1,000 is bequeathed to St. Luke's P. E. Church, Newtown; $500 each to Harry Ely and Clarence Ely. FIREMEN PLAN TO HOUSE APPARATUS

Doylestown Co. To Hold Big Firemen's Parade Next Month

NAME A COMMITTEE

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 5—Plans are being made by the Doylestown Fire Co. to stage a gala old-time firemen's parade when the new $16,000 pumper and addition to the fire house are formally dedicated early next month.

President Harold Hellyer of the company appointed a committee at a meeting recently to prepare for the occasion.

"We expect to make this event one of those old-time firemen's parades and be able to show the public what progress has been made in fire-fighting in recent years," said C. Clifford Beck, chairman of the parade committee. Invitations will be sent to firemen throughout Bucks and adjoining counties.

Three alarms were answered by the company last month, one a barn fire at Buckingham, an automobile fire on Ashland street, and a small chicken house fire out of town.

The company authorized the purchase of some needed additional tools for the various trucks.

Other members of the celebration committee named are Paul Petrillo, Nick Petrillo, Ralph K. Wasser, Horace M. Mann, C. Y. Lewis, Paul Ely and Harry Castelow.

USING TRAP TO CATCH MOSQUITOES HERE

Committee Is Anxious To Learn Type Which Infests The Area

ABOLISH CONTAINERS

The war on the mosquito continues here. Two days previous to the spraying of the town a tour was made of the borough in a search for containers of all kinds that would facilitate the breeding of mosquitoes.

This tour was very successful in that at least 100 containers of all descriptions were discovered. The biggest offenders were people who were using other people's lots for gardening purposes and had to use rain water for sprinkling the garden. Of course, these people did not know that the mosquito breeds in water and when they were informed of this fact, they were only too happy to cooperate.

The job of mosquito control is a tremendous undertaking and the committee is anxious to learn the type which infests the area.

BURLINGTON PLANT TO BE OPERATED SOON

Wall Street Journal Says Aluminum Plant Will Be Reactivated

BEEN IDLE LONG TIME

According to the Wall Street Journal, the Government plans to re-activate the government-owned aluminum plant here. Another plant located at Riverbank, Calif., will also be put into production.

The latter plant is owned partly by Uncle Sam and partly by the Henry Kaiser interests. Of eight factories built at Federal expense during the last war, they're the only ones that haven't been sold in entirety to private companies. They've been idle since the war because the cost of electric power where they're located hasn't allowed profitable peacetime operation, according to the Journal.

The article says the Government likely will start at once to get the Burlington facilities back into operation. President Truman asked Congress for $6,000,000 to "reactivate" idle Federally-owned aluminum plants. The Burlington set-up will be run for the government by a private firm. In the last war the Aluminum Company of America, the country's biggest producer, did this operating job.

The other two of the industry's big three, Reynolds Metals Company and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Company, are bidding strongly to buy the part of the Riverbank, Calif. equipment which is still Government-owned. Kaiser Continued on Page Four

Governor Warren Sounds Warning

San Francisco—Gov. Earl Warren of California says that America "actually is at war with Soviet Russia." Warren sounded a defense warning to Californians, saying—"The first fact to remember is that our armed forces are not merely on a military expedition for the United Nations. Our country is at war, ostensibly with North Korea, but actually with Soviet Russia." Warren said that civilian defense at this time "is a gruesome thing to think about, much less to talk about." He went on—"But we must think about it—seriously, and talk and act about it constructively. I do not wish to frighten anyone, because fright lends inevitably to hysteria, the greatest deterrent to any kind of defense. Neither do I want to make you feel secure because we are not secure, and to assume we are would be to live in a fools' paradise. I want to be frank with you—to tell you the facts so we can make our plans together."

Plane Crashes With Ammunition Cargo

Oklahoma City, Okla.—A twin-engine Marine Corps "Sea Trolley" carrying a cargo of ammunition crashed and exploded last midnight near Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City but the six crewmen aboard escaped unhurt.

The plane, a C-46 designated an R-5 by the Marines Corps, crashed as it was coming into the field to refuel on a flight from the East. Lt. Arch Hamilton of the Oklahoma State Highway Patrol said a series of blasts followed the crash on the edge of a residential district. The area around the scene was roped off "for miles," the patrol officer said.

A spokesman at the Air Force Base said failure of the plane's left engine caused the crash.

FREIGHT HANDLED HERE BY PA. R. R. SHOWS INCREASE

Only Two Stations, Metuchen and Bristol, Show More Business

CARLOADS INCREASE

High Rate of Outbound Freight Shows Industrial Activity

Activity at the Pennsylvania Railroad freight station here has been going steadily upward despite a general decline at all but one other point on the railroad's New York division.

During the first six months of this year Bristol and Metuchen, N. J., were the only districts where railroad business showed an increase over the same period last year. Strikes and other economic difficulties turned the trend downward for all other places on the division.

The freight figures for this last June give an indication of the industrial nature of this area. The railroad handled 889 carloads of inbound freight during June, while outgoing cargoes totaled 561 full carloads. In June, 1949, there were 484 outbound cars and 833 inbound.

This seems to indicate that huge amounts of incoming raw materials, which are usually shipped in full carloads, are needed to keep the producing industries here busy. This is further shown by the figures which show that 488 tons of less than car load freight, i.e., was shipped out during the same period, as compared with 267 tons coming in.

The high rate of outbound freight shows that the raw materials received in car load form are processed and sent out to all parts of the country as smaller finished items ready for use. The excess of inbound tonnage over outbound tonnage is a sign of industrial activity. Continued on Page Four

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

Leopold had a shorter run than Stromboli and he had better publicity.

He was the first King in recent years to be invited to return home . . . then he learned he was just expected to pick up some clean shirts.

But thank goodness he quit peacefully and so fast that even we didn't have time to get into it.

Leopold was accused of being too friendly with the Nazis . . . so, of course, was Stalin until he got kicked in the snook, which by some strange mental process made him our chum.

We are paying the continuing installments on that friendship bill.

But we all have our troubles . . . There's Prince Baudouin stuck with a throne at an age when so many of our young men are free to go anywhere their local boards will let them.

PLANNED INFAMY

Most of the 101 documents included in the State Department's White Paper on Korea are simply more precise and detailed and official expressions of facts already known to newspaper readers. But Document 10, the report of the UN Temporary Commission on Korea (UNTCOK), gives a startling picture of events preceding the invasion. For about three weeks before the attack, North Korea abandoned its campaign of vilification and took the initiative in proposing peaceful unification of all Korea.

PLANNED INFAMY

In view of the scale and efficiency of the offensive launched on June 25, it is evident that military preparations for it were already under way when the campaign began. Its sole purpose, in the opinion of UNTCOK, must have been to lull South Korea into the belief that no immediate attempt to force a solution by force was being considered by North Korea.

On June 3, North Korea announced that 5,300,000 of its citizens had signed an appeal for peace and unification. On June 7, the Pyongyang radio began broadcasting repeated appeals to all democratic parties and groups throughout Korea, proposing elections for both parts of Korea following the meeting of a proposed consultative council.

This conciliatory attitude seemed to represent a complete about-face from North Korea's previous hostility — despite its proposed exclusion of nine South Korean officials. So on June 10 UNTCOK sent a representative to receive the proposal, and on June 11 three North Korean representatives entered South Korea. They were arrested, but were later taken before UNTCOK, where they said they had been well treated and expressed surprise at North Korean misinformation about members of the South Korean government.

Meanwhile UNTCOK offered to mediate, North Korea rejected that proposal. South Korea treated the whole appeal as a trick to undermine its government. But negotiations were proceeding in relative amity when North Korea suddenly launched its sneak invasion. It then proceeded to charge that South Korea had rejected all peace proposals and had itself launched an invasion. None of this, says UNTCOK, is supported by any evidence.

The parallel to events preceding Pearl Harbor is worth noting.

Swindler arrested in Paris claimed to have carried on affairs with 17 different women at the same time. The average American man has trouble keeping his stories straight with one.

Senate has decided not to build a $20,000,000 office building, the decision apparently having been made by members who fear they will not be back next year anyway.

Many varieties of weeds have built up resistance to 2-4-D, much in the manner Stalin has become immune to peace.

shakably New Deal, Fair Deal and Welfare State Democrats, it becomes the main purpose of his life to have their commendation continue. One would think the intelligent among them would realize they are behaving like political saps, lending themselves to Democratic propaganda about the desire of Republicans to return to the "Harding and McKinley days" and giving encouragement to such old political frauds as Mr. William Green, of the APL, who regularly denounces the Republicans as "bankrupt of decent principles" and "barren of political honor."

Of course, this talk of "reactionary leadership" is the cheapest kind of claptrap. The Republicans did not lose the last four elections because they were reactionary. They lost two of them because of the war and the other two because, in a silly effort to outbid and outpromise the Democrats, they gave the voters no choice between liberalism and conservatism. Twice there have been two neglected issues upon which there is strong reason to believe they could have won. One of these is the evil effect of an enormously expanded Federal machine, the weight of which tends to keep the Administration in power and the tremendous cost of which has brought us close to economic chaos.

The other is the shameful subservience of the Democratic Administration to the greedy labor bosses, whose reckless waves of strikes have at times endangered the economic life and health of the nation. With these two and the right sort of candidate, the Republican party can afford to disregard these horrid "movements" to renovate and redecorate it. It does not need a new dress or a new program. It does need fewer men who, attracted by publicity bait, can be lured into attacking their own side and it does need a man to nominate two years from now who can indict this Administration in a way to make the people see clearly what has been done to them.

ingless adjectives "liberal," "progressive" and "constructive." They are all strong on generalities and extremely foggy concerning specific facts. When you get through reading their verbose pronouncements, including the indignant denial that they propose to "me too" the old Roosevelt New Deal and the new Truman Welfare State, you find that if that isn't their position then they have said nothing whatsoever and the whole business is wind.

In two other respects these efforts for Republican "rehabilitation" are exactly the same: (1) They seem to have an equally unstable existence. Some stay alive longer than others but soon or late they shrivel and fall off the vine. (2) Invariably, they secure rather important publicity for a short time. Certainly, a sure way for a Republican to get publicity is to proclaim himself a "liberal" and express discontent with the "reactionary party leadership." He does not have to have a program. He does not even have to have an idea. All he has to do is beat his breast and strike the pose. At once, he is hailed by the left-wing and advanced thinkers among the columnists, commentators and press agents. They start in to make a hero of him. From that time on he is referred to in chorus as "the hard-hitting, clear-thinking Senator So-and-So," or "the able and independent Representative This-and-That."

And though, unless completely stone-headed, he must know that these journalistic greasers are un-

Mr. Frank Livolsy, Jr., Weds Miss Lorraine Burinski Today

TORRESDALE, Aug. 5 — St. Michael's R. C. Church this morning, at the hour of nine was the setting for the double ring ceremony which united in matrimony Miss Lorraine Burinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burinski, Andalusia to Mr. Francis Livolsy, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Livolsy of Philadelphia. The Rev. Ignatius Sall officiated.

Attractively gowned in a creation of chintilly lace over candlelight satin, the bride made her way to the flower decked altar on the arm of her father. The bride's costume featured a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves, fitted bodice gathered at the sides with button back. The long full skirt fell from a gathered waistline ending with a scalloped train in back. She wore a Dutch cap of satin and lace to which was attached a veil and full length train of Belgian lace that was worn by her mother 27 years ago. A single strand of pearls adorned her neck and white satin slippers were also worn. An orchid surrounded by white roses and stephanotis was the bridal bouquet.

Three attendants were dressed alike in rayon marquisette over-tafeta. They were: matron of honor Mrs. Joseph Cahill, Croydon in aqua; Mrs. Fred Raniowski, Philadelphia in yellow; Miss Alverda Williamson, Croydon in orchid. The gowns were styled with V necklines, cap sleeves, fitted bodices and gathered waistlines. Long full skirts had lace inserts at the hips. Sweetheart bonnets of horsehair with clusters of taffeta ribbons on both sides and silver slippers completed the costumes. They carried old fashioned bouquets of mixed flowers encased in collars of satin and lace.

Two and one-half year old Karen Schaffer, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride was flower girl attired in a costume of aqua rayon marquisette fashioned with a round neckline, fitted bodice, cap sleeves and long full skirt. A sweetheart bonnet of horsehair and silver slippers were also worn. She carried a miniature old fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mr. John Livolsy, Philadelphia, served his brother as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Thomas Hickey and Thomas Burinski, Andalusia a brother of the bride.

Sister Callista of Nazareth Academy, Torresdale, rendered organ melodies. Mrs. John Zabczynski, Philadelphia, sang, "Ave Maria" and "Mother At Thy Feet is Kneeling". The latter selection was sung during the dedication of the bridal bouquet at the feet of the Blessed Virgin.

Mrs. Burinski, mother of the bride, selected a dress of navy sheer crepe, white hat, navy shoes and accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Livolsy wore a navy sheer dress with matching hat and accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

For her wedding trip to parts of Canada, the former Miss Burinski chose a two piece suit of navy with white collar, a matching picture hat, gloves, slippers and handbag. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Nazareth Academy, Torresdale. The Alma Mater of Mr. Livolsy, Jr. is LaSalle College. Mrs. Livolsy, Jr. is employed at the Corn Exchange National Bank, Philadelphia. Her husband is assistant manager for the W. T. Grant Co., Bayonne, N. J.

A wedding breakfast was served at Fischer's restaurant, Philadelphia. The reception will take place this evening at the Mayfair Lodge Hall with 250 attending.

The bride's gifts to the matron of honor and bridesmaids were pearl necklaces; to the flower girl she presented a gold heart and key bracelet. Initialed leather wallets were the gifts which Mr. Livolsy presented to his best man and the ushers.

The newly-weds will reside at Bayonne, N. J.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward C. Kolbe
Pastor
St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Croydon

A visitor from Germany reports: "Before the war our beautiful churches were show places, to which we took visitors as one does to a museum. On Sundays our churches were empty. Now God has taken them away from us. They lie in ruins."

To millions of Americans, too, churches have become little more than "museums and showplaces." It has been estimated that only 50 percent of our population claims membership in any church and that of those who do claim membership fewer than 50 percent are in church on the average Sunday morning.

A vital personal Christianity is inconceivable apart from regular church attendance. Christ Himself said: "He that is of God heareth God's words; ye therefore hear them not because ye are not of God."

Let Americans beware. Many a European never saw the inside of a church until the inside was lying on the outside. Let us profit by their example. When did you attend church last? Do so tomorrow.

KENT, O. — (INS) — Here's some good news for pedestrians and motorists who dislike the odor of bus exhaust fumes. CAPELLA WINS
FOURTH GAME FOR FRANKLIN

Anthony Cappello won his fourth straight mound triumph last evening as he twirled Franklin A. C. to a two-hit victory over the Auto Boys ten on Memorial Park field. Final score was 4-1.

The only hits made from the delivery of Cappello were singles from the bats of Ralph Linck in the fourth inning and Leon Plavin in the sixth. Linck's hit helped to account for the losers' lone marker while Plavin was washed up in a double-play.

Cappello had the Auto Boys batsmen popping up all evening with the outfielders getting quite a workout. Ten flies were caught by the four players used in the outfield.

Franklin made six hits off Dick VanAken. Two of these were doubles by Bert Barbetta and Bill Wallick to give Franklin its first run. The other two markers crossed the plate when DeLisa failed to stop Frank Lucenti's ground ball, enabling him to circle the bases. Franklin's other marker was the result of a hit by Tony Palumbo, an error by Larry Harrison, and an infield out by "Dizzy" DeLisa.

The victory put Franklin but one game behind the league-leading Second Ward team.

Burlington Plant
To Be Operated Soon

has already purchased one-third of it which will be moved to Washington State.

At the Burlington site power from any of the companies that supply that area costs nine mills per kilowatt-hour, the Journal article says, so private firms can't operate it commercially. Whoever runs it—and that firm's identity hasn't been decided yet—will simply turn over the output to the Government and receive payment on a "cost plus" basis. It will produce about 54,000 tons a year.

Aluminum-making soaks up a huge flow of electricity; power makes up about one-fourth of the production cost. To operate profitably, a commercial producer can't afford to pay more than three mills per kilowatt-hour, the authorities say.

When the Burlington and Riverbank plants (including the segment migrating to Washington) start up again, eight months to a year from now, the Journal says, they'll add about 108,000 tons annually to present output.

Presently operating factories, roaring at full blast, will spew out about 600,000 tons of aluminum ingots this year, according to Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer. Imports, mostly from Canada, will add another 475,000 tons.

Using Trap To Catch
Mosquitoes Here

cooperation of one and all is needed if this campaign against the mosquito is to be successful. The mosquito control committee of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce is working under handicaps and the cooperation of the residents of the town is needed. It cannot be over-emphasized how much the committee needs the help of the residents of the borough.

The committee considers the spraying of the borough a success. The material used is not toxic and will not damage the buildings, etc. For the past few weeks the committee has been using a mosquito trap. The purpose of this trap is to catch the mosquitoes. The mosquitoes are then collected, counted and sent to the state health department for classification. This classification is performed by the state authorities and from their reports the Bristol committee will know what type of mosquitoes we have here. Also from this report the committee will be able to tell just where to look for the mosquitoes, since certain types breed in certain places.

"The committee will appreciate the whole-hearted cooperation of the people of Bristol in making this project a success. Remember, your cooperation can help make Bristol a healthier and happier place to live," said a spokesman for the committee.

among them Ruth White, James Doohan, Harry McHaffey, Mary James, Carl White, and Gene Blakely. Isabella Hoops, one of the many actresses who went from the Bucks County Playhouse to Broadway roles, is returning for an amusing part; and Elaine Ellis, pretty Broadway ingenue, will make her debut at the Playhouse in the part of a sympathetic nurse.

Paul Foley, who was associated with the original New York production, is directing the comedy, and David Reppa is designing the sets. Victor Jory and "The Spider" will continue at the Playhouse through Saturday matinee and evening performances on August 5th.

Langhorne Council
Adopts Speed Law

speeding through the borough streets. The situation has improved a lot but there are still a lot of drivers speeding through the borough. The worst time for speeding seems to be in the mornings and in the early evening.

Langhorne Fire Department, Chief Walter H. Wolf, reported that for the year ending June 1st, 1950, 94 fire calls had been answered. In breaking it down he reported there were 14 house fire calls, six cars, 55 field fires, five false alarms, five outbuilding fires, one emergency call, three mill fires, one barn fire, one rubbish fire, one railroad locomotive fire, and one truck fire in the area for the year. A total of 965 men answered the 94 calls for an average of 10 men per call.

Value of property risked in the whole area was $275,000, with a fire loss of $34,760. Property risked in the borough was $43,900, with a fire loss of $5,400.

Chief Wolf reported that the fire chiefs association had adopted a fire prevention code and would like all borough and townships in Bucks County to adopt it, so that a uniform code will prevail throughout the county. He asked council to consider the adoption of the fire code. Council said it would look into it and see if it would be possible to adopt it.

Arthur Walker, chairman of property committee, reported the plans for the parking lot in back of town hall have been completed and they were ready to go ahead with it, if approved. The property committee was authorized to proceed with the construction of the parking lot.

John R. May, chairman of street and highway committee, reported the committee had met with representatives of the state department of highways regarding the mapping of plans for repairing state highways in the borough.

Chairman May said the gutters in the borough were in very bad shape and the committee was going to fix them, but the property owners would have to reset their curbs before it could be done.

The problem of a traffic light for Belmont and Maple avenues was discussed and the secretary, William J. Palmer, was instructed to write to the district traffic engineer.

neers of the state highway, requesting a traffic signal survey.

Only one bid was received for the resurfacing of the borough streets. It was from Kauffman Brothers for .152 per square yard. It being the only bid council awarded the contract to them.

The street and highway committee is ready to fix the gutters in the borough, but before this can be done all the curbs have to be reset and put in line and some need to be repaired. All property owners of the borough are asked to have their curbs repaired or reset as soon as possible so that the gutter project can get underway.

"It is expected to start fixing the gutters in the business center first, which is the highest point in the borough and work from there down so that proper drainage will be had. Almost all the gutters are in bad shape and need a lot of filling in so that cars parking will not be hitting them all the time with their fenders. When this project is finished it will make the borough more attractive. If all property owners will cooperate in getting their curbs fixed it will not take long for the street and highway committee to finish this project," it is stated.

Freight Handled Here By

incoming seems to indicate that this area produces more than enough to supply its own needs, and still has plenty to ship out.

In recent months the railroad has been making an all-out attempt to build up its lcl business, which was taken over by the truckers in large part during the war.

More than 500 special oversize box cars have been installed by the railroad to aid in the re-capture of merchandise and package freight. These new cars can take 133% more merchandise freight than the former cars.

Six types of cars were tested by the road before a system of sectioning reminiscent of the barnyard gate and closed shelves was adopted. This system enables the cars to carry separate loads of material in separate sections.

About 100 of these new cars, marked with a special "L.C.L. Merchandise" line with large PRR Keystone emblem in red, measures 60 feet in length, one-third larger than the usual freight car. The other 400 are 50 feet in length.

Less than carload merchandise is no longer loaded on cars here at Bristol. The local freight station has four trucks and 15 trailers which are used to carry the freight to Trenton, N. J., the largest transfer point on the New York division.

The trailers are left at the various points in Bristol and surrounding area where they are loaded with merchandise. Then the tractors pick the trailers up before four o'clock each afternoon and take them to Trenton where the materials are sorted according to destination and loaded in the new type box cars. The material which leaves here before four o'clock is on its way to any part of the country that night.

The Trenton terminal handles about 90 such cars a day, and more than 70 per cent of the merchandise is from outside of Trenton itself. New equipment such as lift trucks, flat trucks and special pallets, plus specially trained men, an increased office force, and teletype communication between points have been added in this task of winning back the lcl prize from the truckers.

The six men at the Bristol freight station under the direction of Clifford G. Taylor are a valuable part of the Pennsy system, for they add one-half million dollars a month to the railroad's coffers with the freight that is handled by the local office.

U. S. Forces Hurl Back
Enemy in Push to Pusan

visions to the south from the northern sector to power still greater attacks in their costly endeavor to overwhelm Korea's southeast corner, stubbornly defended by U. S. Marine and Army divisions.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters announced that "the enemy was repulsed in his first series of attacks on the new Nakdong (River) line and is regrouping and preparing a new onslaught."

The North Korean 15th Division, including many battlewise veterans of China's Red army conquest of Manchuria, was pushed down from the north to back up the 6th Division's thrusts from Chinju, the vital western defense of Pusan.

The enemy's First Division, which led the invasion of South Korea six weeks ago, also was brought down to support the furious assault by the 6th and three other divisions on the wide Nakdong covering the approaches to Taegu.

The Communist hosts were springing what MacArthur's headquarters spokesmen called "furious assaults" on the Nakdong defense held by the stout-fighting U. S. Army's First Cavalry Division defending Taegu.

Taegu, northwest cornerstone of the new box like front before Pusan, 55 miles to the southeast, was brought within heavy siege gun range by one Communist spearhead which slashed to within seven miles of the city.

In the crucial southern sector, the Communists unleashed their sixth serious attack Friday toward Masan, western gateway to Pusan after failing in five assaults with heavy loss of life and materiel.

Wongbun-Ni, 33 miles west of Pusan and eight miles west of the important harbor of Masan, continued to be the focal point of the Wongbun-Ni fighting where U. S. 24th and 25th Infantry and First Marine Division troops are blunting the Red efforts to advance.

The enemy's tank-paced effort to crash through at Wongbun-Ni was broken off at two o'clock Friday afternoon (12 midnight EDT Thursday) as hundreds of Communist dead were left on the battlefield.

He resumed his attack on the immediate approaches to Masan a short while later and this, too, was repulsed with severe losses.

Gen. MacArthur's intelligence officer said that, due to the depletions of enemy armor imposed by ground and air action, only four Red Russian-built tanks were seen on the blazing sector east of Chinju.

The defense line running from Korea's southern coast north through Wongbun-Ni stretches for 140 miles along the westward bulge of the Nakdong River. Here the enemy is driving spearheads eastward repeatedly in efforts to break through to Masan.

Along the northern shoulder of the rectangular battle perimeter, MacArthur's headquarters announced "delaying action" counter attacks against enemy troops striving to by-pass Taegu from the north.

These counter-punches began at 10 o'clock Friday night (8 a. m. Friday, EDT) and were thrown at the Red strongpoints of Odamong and Simhung, each five miles south of Andong. This is the only section of the line where the Communists have crossed the bending Nakdong.

The river is easily fordable at this point and is not considered part of the new southern line behind which American troops have withdrawn to more defensive positions.
